

HARVARD-YENCHING INSTITUTE INDIAN STUDIES IN CHINA
FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM ANNOUNCEMENT
(2025-26)

May 28, 2024

Dear Colleagues,

Thank you for participating in the Harvard-Yenching Institute's Indian Studies in China fellowship program. Below please see the announcement for the 2025-26 academic year. We appreciate your continued collaboration and look forward to receiving your nominations of young scholars in the field of Indian Studies at your university.

For the 2025-26 academic year, the Harvard-Yenching Institute plans to select a few outstanding young fellowship recipients (including doctoral students and faculty who have completed their doctorate within the past 7 years) in the field of Indian Studies to come to the HYI for a one-year research stay. We invite you to nominate two candidates for this program. If a selected candidate is a doctoral candidate, the HYI will offer a fellowship for the student to come as a visiting fellow affiliated with Harvard's Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and the Harvard-Yenching Institute. If a chosen candidate is a young faculty member with a doctorate, we will offer a grant for the faculty member to come as a visiting scholar. The study and research of a candidate should be related to Indian Studies in a discipline in the humanities or social sciences. There is no specific age limit, but we are seeking scholars in an early stage of their career development. We welcome nominations in all social science and humanities areas of Indian studies with an emphasis on academic (not applied or policy oriented) research.

After an initial review of the application dossiers, we will select approximately half of the candidates for interviews this winter for further consideration. We hope to select two to three outstanding young scholars for a research stay at the Harvard-Yenching Institute during the 2025-26 academic year.

Eligibility

Candidates who are doctoral students must be citizens of an Asian country, but there is no citizenship restriction for candidates who are junior faculty; candidates who are faculty members should have received their doctorate in the past 7 years. Applications for nomination to the program should be submitted to the international office and affiliated department of the applicants' home university.

Terms and Conditions

A selected junior faculty member will be offered a visiting scholarship, and a selected doctoral candidate a visiting fellowship.

The following provides more detailed information on the fellowship coverage:

Visiting Scholar for Indian Studies in China Program	Visiting Fellow for Indian Studies in China Program
- x Round trip economy class airfare; - x A stipend of approximately US $5,250 per month for the period of residence in Cambridge, Massachusetts (for 10 months); - x Health Insurance; - x Funding (up to $5,000) for participating in academic conferences/research trips in North America, and hiring an editor or a research assistant.	- x Round trip economy class airfare; - x Payment of the Harvard University Visiting Fellows fees including health insurance coverage; - x A stipend adequate for a single fellow for 10 months (for 2024-25, the monthly stipend is approximately $3,570.00); - x Funding (up to $5,000) for participating in academic conferences/research trips in North America, and hiring an editor or an English language assistant.

Nominated candidates should apply through the HYI online application portal. In addition, an applicant should provide three letters of recommendation. Application instructions are included in the attachment [Indian Studies Program About the online application system.PDF]. Please note: you should feel free to use the attached application form for conducting the internal nomination process within your institution, but official applications must be submitted online.

Please submit the applications by September 15, 2024. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact us at <hyiprogram@fas.harvard.edu> should you have any questions about the logistics of the nomination process within your university.

As this will be my last year as Director of the Harvard-Yenching Institute, I would like to thank you for your continued cooperation and partnership with the Institute over the years. We look forward to a smooth transition as Professor James Robson, my successor, assumes the Directorship in July 2024.

Elizabeth J. Perry

Director
Harvard-Yenching Institute